

Biography

My name is André Lynch. I am a graduate student at St. Lawrence University, in Canton, NY. My curriculum focus is Educational Leadership, and I am slated to graduate this Summer 2016. I am originally from Long Island, NY but spent most of my teenage years in Central NY, where I was a victim of discrimination time and time again. From that point forward, I pledged to defy stereotypes, while empowering minority youth to achieve a higher education. I have recently been accepted to an Ed.D program, and aim to be a Dean of Students at a small Liberal Arts University.
