A Student Contest Sponsored by 4Humanities

Who: Enter if you are an undergraduate or graduate student, an individual or team, from any nation.

What: Your submission will be judged by an international panel of distinguished judges for message, quality, and impact no matter your medium or format. Possible submissions include: essay (less than 2,000 words), video, digital work, poster, cartoon, song, art, short story, interview. See our Contest Kit for ideas, resources, and tools.

About: Your submission should answer such questions as: Why is studying the humanities—e.g., history, literature, languages, philosophy, art history, media history, and culture—important to you? To society? How would you convince your parents, an employer, a politician, or others that there is value in learning the humanities?

Instructors and Educational Leaders: Want to organize a “creativity workshop” to incubate submissions by your students? See Workshops and Contest Kit on our site for ideas. 4Humanities.org will create an online showcase specifically for your students’ work.

When: Submissions by March 1, 2016.

Prizes: Winners will receive the following awards, and will be published on the 4Humanities.org site:

- Undergraduate Students
  - 1st: US$1,000
  - 2nd: US$700
  - 3rd: US$300

- Graduate Students
  - 1st: US$1,000
  - 2nd: US$700
  - 3rd: US$300

See our website for information about 4Humanities: 4humanities.org
Submission Guidelines, Contest Kit, Workshops, and Judges: 4humanities.org/contest